German and Italian Foreign Ministers, Von Ribbentrop and Count Ciano, Reported to Have Departed From Berchtesgaden for Conference to Which Premier Count Teleky and Count Czakay Have Been Invited

BUHRER HAS SECRET PARLEY WITH BORIS

BULLETIN
Rome, Nov. 19.—(P)—Italian sources said today that Bulgaria and Rumania would join in forthcoming war moves by German and Italy.

Berlin, Nov. 19.—(P)—Hungary is next on the list for Axis discussions, DNE (official German news agency) disclosed today, following Adolf Hitler's conference with Count Teleky and Count Czakay.

German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano arrived this afternoon in Vienna from Salzburg aboard special trains.

Hungarian Premier Count Pal Teleky and Foreign Minister Count Czakay are on their way to Vienna, at Germany's invitation, and are due to arrive there tomorrow.

Von Ribbentrop and Ciano joined Hitler yesterday in a meeting with Ramon Serrano Suner, Spanish foreign minister who, DNE reported, left Salzburg this morning on his way back to Spain.

First of the fuhrer's callers was disclosed meanwhile, was King Boris of Bulgaria. As with yesterday's talks at the fuhrer's Berchtesgaden retreat, there was no inkling of what was discussed.

Authorized sources said cryptically that Boris visited Hitler to discuss "Europe." The same answer was given to inquiries about the purpose of the Vienna meeting.

These sources disclosed that Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, was "on a train headed in a southeasterly direction," presumably meaning he was on his way back to Ankara.

Next to come, it is generally believed, will be Gen. Ion Antonescu, dictator of Rumania's Iron Guard, pro-Nazi government. This, however, is not confirmed.

A Southeast Coast Town, England, Nov. 19.—(P)—Mazes of Axis raiding planes, estimated unofficially at 80 to 100, roared over the English Channel tonight, headed northwest.

London, Nov. 19.—(P)—The Europa, Germany's largest ocean liner, was hit amidships while in dock at Bremen, the Air Ministry news service reported today.

Rome, Nov. 19.—(P)—Italian land, sea and air forces have repulsed a British attempt to seize the island of Gaidaro in the Dodecanese, the High Command reported today.

Census Bureau Places Total Population Of U. S. and Territories at 150,362,326

Washington, Nov. 19.—(P)—The census bureau today placed the total population of the United States, its territories and possessions at 150,362,326.

This represented an increase of 923,257, or 8.6 per cent over the 1930 census, on the basis of preliminary figures.

The population in the territories and possessions, the bureau reported, had increased three times as rapidly during the past decade as it had on the mainland.

The continental United States population previously had been placed at 131,409,881, an increase of 7 per cent. The population of the Philippine Islands was placed at 2,596,443, a gain of 445,442 or 20.7 per cent.

The Philippine Islands count, an estimate based on censuses taken in January, 1939, and December, 1941, was 16,556,000, an increase of 2,843,000 or 21 per cent

STRIKE PARLEY AT COAST PLANT LASTS 17 HOURS

Conference Between Union Leaders, Aircraft Executives and Government Representatives, Seeks To End Vultee Factory Controversy

NO REPORT IS MADE

Downey, Calif., Nov. 19.—(P)—A conference between union leaders, aircraft executives and government representatives, seeking to end the strike at the Vultee airplane factory, was recessed at 6 a. m. (9 a. m. Eastern Standard Time) today—17 hours after it started. Three hours later the conference was resumed.

There was no indication what progress, if any, had been made toward reopening the plant, closed five days.

More than 5,000 Vultee employees were thrown into idleness and work on military aircraft was halted when the United Automobile Workers struck Friday for a 25-cent-an-hour increase in the basic wage scale of 50 cents an hour.

Through the efforts of Major Sidney Simpson, War Department labor adviser, and H. Arnold Tullies, aide to Sidney Hillman, labor member of the National Advisory Board, union and company officials met behind locked doors in a Los Angeles hotel room yesterday.

The strike affects Vultee's $54,000,000 contracts for domestic and foreign military planes, an important source of business.

BLAST IN ONTARIO

Nobel, Ont., Nov. 19.—(P)—Three men were killed when an explosion rocked the TNT division of Defense Industries, Ltd., last night, but plant officials said the damage was not extensive and was confined to the acid-treatment branch. The plant buildings are designed so that an explosion in one need not set off blasts in the others. Each building is sandbagged on three sides, with the fourth side, facing from the other buildings, unprotected.

Woman Tells of Small Bomb Going Through Crib of Fourteen-Month-Old Son and Exploding After Passing Through Floor Below

SEA TRAGEDY UNFOLDS

New York, Nov. 19.—(P)—The armed British liner Samaria arrived today from Liverpool via Halifax with 684 passengers, most of them refugees from the war zone, and all of whom wore their lifebelts constantly during the voyage.

Among them was Mrs. Ann Hal-trecht, who said that before she left London a small bomb went through the crib of her 14-month-old son and exploded after it had passed through the floor below.

She and the baby had gone to bed after having been in an air shelter until 2 p. m. she said. "After an initial explosion which blew the roof from the house," she related, "I saw a small bomb come down through the sky. It fell into the baby's crib—we were on the second floor—went on through and exploded—and when it did the baby went up in the air and I went with him."

"The house was practically demolished but neither of us was injured, except I was somewhat bruised."

Her husband is with the Royal Engineers. She and the child are on their way to stay with her sister, Mrs. Lily Norton, of Miami, Fla.

Another passenger with a tale of war's horrors was Arthur E. Dowling. (Turn to Page Nine)

FIVE WHO FAILED TO REGISTER TO BE PROSECUTED

Philadelphians

Five young men, adamant in their objections to the national selective service act, formally were notified today that the federal government intends to prosecute because they failed to register for the draft.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney Edward A. Kallick, announcing that subpoenas had been issued for the appearance of the five before the grand jury next Monday, said the action was taken after his office had asked them to change their minds. They refused.

Those cited were Ernest Kurk-jinn, 24, the only one of 167 diversity students at Temple University who did not register; Sturge Steinert, 21, now in his fourth year at Temple on an American Legion scholarship; Albee Brooke, 31, Moorestown, N. J., employee of the American Friends Service committee; Clayton Nyer Bergay, Telford; and Merritt Eugene Gaist, Bethlehem.

Conviction on a charge of deliberate refusal to register carries a maximum penalty of $10,000 fine and five years' imprisonment.

KORITZA REPORTED CAPTURED

As Press Minister of Greece Appeals to "Free Countries" of World for Help In Her War Against Italy. Invading Troops are Said To Have Started Slow Evacuation of Fortified Albanian City After Two Weeks Battering

RETIRING TO POSTS FURTHER IN THE REAR

BY MAX HARRELSON
Athens, Nov. 19.—(P)—Greece appealed to the "free countries" of the world today to help her in her war against Italy, with the declaration by Theo Nicoloudis, press minister, that they should not be misled by current Greek successes in the field.

He appealed especially to Britain and the United States, in a talk with foreign newspaper correspondents, to send the greatest possible number of planes, and compared Greece's present situation with that of Finland in the struggle with Russia a year ago.

Nicoloudis spoke as Italian troops were reported moving slowly out of Koritza after two weeks of Greek battering against the fortified Albanian city.

"We won't make the same mistake as heroic Finland, which, content with her first successes, failed to ask for help from abroad," Nicoloudis said.

The Greeks, he continued, are fighting an enemy six times greater in war materials. In the Koritza area, he declared, the Italians are using 400 planes.

Reuters, British news agency, in a dispatch from Belgrade said the city of Koritza fell to Greek mountain troops at 1 a. m. today—6 p. m. EST, Monday.

Greek military sources, however, made no immediate claim of capturing the strategic crossroads city 10 miles inside Albania, but a government spokesman declared last night that Fascist defenders in the Koritza sector had given up counter attacks and called upon their dive bombers to cover their withdrawal to positions farther back.

Even this, it was reported, failed because of counter action by Greek and British warplanes, in which the Greek high command said today, nine Italian planes were shot down, two Greek planes lost.

The spokesman reported that "we continue to crush successively the enemy lines in a squeeze to cut off the Italians' road of retreat."

Alcoholic Deaths in Pittsburgh Probed

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19.—(P)—The deaths of five men, the first Sunday and the last today, were officially attributed today by the coroner's office to acute alcoholism.

The deputy coroner, Anthony Sappo, identified the five and the times and places of the deaths as: Walter Burr, 50, Pittsburgh, Allegheny General Hospital, Sunday, 8:20 a. m., one hour after admission. Arthur J. Davis, 38, Carnegie, Allegheny General Hospital, Monday, 6:35 p. m., 29 minutes after admission. Harry B. McMillen, 40, Carnegie, at home today, 6:15 a. m. John David, 70, Carnegie, at home, yesterday, 8:15 p. m. Edward Mulancy, 45, Carnegie, Sappo said the deaths were not associated until Davis died. Authorities then began an investigation and learned the five men had been friends. Post mortems disclosed acute alcoholism was the cause or contributing cause of each death. Sappo added.

Present Session of 322 Days is the Third Longest in Peacetime History of Nation

Washington, No. 19.—(P)—Adjournment of congress today would make the present session the third longest in peacetime history.

It has been 322 days since this session convened. The peacetime record is held by the 1867-68 congress, which met for 345 days before adjourning. In 1915-16 there was a session of 328 days.

The wartime congress of 1917-18 set the all-time record with a session of 354 days.

The International Situation in Brief

By the Associated Press
Diplomacy: Adolf Hitler is organizing "Axis empire" in Europe in an effort to line up continent against Britain. It became evident today after the German fuhrer conferred secretly with King Boris of Bulgaria and arranged a meeting with Hungarian officials tomorrow in Vienna.

Greek-Italian conflict: Greece claims sweeping successes in counter-invasion of Albania with Mussolini's warriors steadily falling back from key base of Koritza, 10 miles inside Albania; Reuters (British news agency) reports from Yugoslavia sources that Koritza has been captured by Greeks. Greeks appeal to "free countries" for aid against Italians.

QUIET NIGHT IS EXPERIENCED BY BRITISH CAPITAL

Few Raiders Stab Through Howling Winds to Attack Liverpool, Midlands and Coast as "Big Berthas" Toss Shells

CASUALTIES SLIGHT

By The Associated Press
London, Nov. 19.—German "big Berthas" tossed shells across the mist-shrouded Dover Straits today following a night of stormy weather which sharply curtailed the Nazi air siege of Britain.

For nearly an hour the German batteries shelled the English coast from the direction of Cap Gris Nez, which the British say is the site of eight of the 24 Nazi big gun emplacements strung out along the French coast from Calais to Boulogne.

In last night's curtailed activity, a few German raiders stabbed through howling winds to attack Liverpool, one section of the Midlands and the south coast. London had four night alarms, but for the first time in weeks not a single bomb was dropped on the capital.

An official announcement said casualties in the bombed areas were small and damage slight.

British bombers themselves were grounded for the most part by the channel storm, but the Air Ministry reported one group managed to get in a lick against the synthetic German oil works at Louisa, near Leipzig. Here several large fires were declared started.

Authoritative sources said a "small force" of RAF bombers (Turn to Page Nine)

BOSTON NAVY YARD HAS A SECOND FIRE

Boston, Nov. 19.—(P)—A midnight fire aboard the half-completed destroyer Gwynn at the Boston navy yard—the second fire at the yard in three days—was investigated today by naval officials.

A fire Saturday on the top floor of a storage building near the Gwynn and three other destroyers under construction was said by investigators to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in stored life preservers and that the loss was $500.

Last night's blaze was extinguished in about half an hour. Approximately 4,500 yard employees going to work on the midnight shift were detained outside the yard gates temporarily while firemen fought the flames.

WARNS OF INVASION

London, Nov. 19.—(P)—Sir Edward Grigg, War Office undersecretary, warned Commons today the Germans might attempt to invade Britain "at any time, particularly since their triumphs are beginning to look a little tarnished."

A large part of the Nazi army, he declared, still "stands marshaled behind invasion ports."

Pittsburgh Labor Leader, Most Frequently Mentioned Person to Succeed John L. Lewis, Tells Congress of Industrial Organizations Convention At Atlantic City That He Is Not a Candidate for President

CHIEF'S POLICIES ARE UNDER CONSIDERATION

BY TOM COMAN
Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 19.—(P)—Philip Murray, Pittsburgh labor leader, told the Congress of Industrial Organizations' convention today that he was not a candidate to succeed John L. Lewis as CIO chief.

The gray-haired, quiet-spoken vice president of the CIO had been the only person mentioned at the national convention as a possible successor to Lewis.

"I want the convention to know that I don't have any aspirations," he said.

"I am not a candidate for president of the CIO. That decision has been reached by me."

Murray's announcement came in the midst of convention consideration of Lewis's policies.

He expressed hope the convention would work in harmony to adopt the Lewis report of his stewardship during the past year.

Murray said he disapproved of Lewis's position in the presidential campaign, in which Lewis backed Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee, and Murray supported President Roosevelt.

He added, however, that he had "an affection bordering upon actual love" for Lewis, with whom he has worked for 30 years.

BERMAN SENTENCED AS PAROLE VIOLATOR

Carlisle, Nov. 19.—(P)—Morris Berman, 40, of Philadelphia, was sentenced today to one to two years in jail today on a charge of violating terms of his parole by which he was placed on five years' probation a year ago after pleading no defense to charges of violating the state securities act.

Judge Fred S. Reese sentenced Berman after a hearing on a citation to show cause why the probation should not be rescinded and a new sentence imposed.

District Attorney Ray T. Harigan told the court Berman had violated provisions of the probation. He said Berman had engaged in "promotion schemes" in New York and New Jersey similar to the "Warren Group Number One" venture, which allegedly cost investors $255,000. He was prosecuted and placed on probation in that case.

DIES DISCLOSES ARREST OF NAZI SECRET POLICE

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(P)—Chairman Martin Dies announced today he was sending seven agents of his congressional committee on un-American activities to four cities "immediately" to seize records of what he described as German and Communist organizations.

He said the agents, half of his staff, were dispatched to Detroit, Mich., two cities in the east and one in the south. He declined to identify the three other cities.

This activity followed raids yesterday, Dies said, in Chicago, New York and other cities on "German and Italian organizations." He announced that documents and records were seized last night or early today at five Chicago "German and Communist" organizations.

Dies said that he planned to question four persons in a continuation of the committee's investigation of evidence unearthed by committee agents here.

The congressman identified one of yesterday's mysterious witnesses as Heinrich Peter Fassbender, 25, alias Harry Smith, an agent of the Gestapo, who was seized on the

CHIEF EXECUTIVE URGES LABOR TO RESTORE UNITY

President Roosevelt, in Message to William Green, Stresses Need for "Great United Democracy," in "Any Emergency That Might Arise"

STRAUS DELIVERS TALK

New Orleans, Nov. 19.—(P)—President Roosevelt in a message to the American Federation of Labor today urged a "just and honorable peace" with the now divided labor movement in the United States and suggested labor leaders can find a way toward that end.

"Peace will not be easy to achieve," the president said in a letter to AFL President William Green, who had it read to the convention, "and the intricate problems involved may not be easy to solve."

"But when men of honor and good intention," the president said, "sit down together, they can work it out."

Lady Astor Praises Courage of Women

London, Nov. 19.—(P)—Lady Astor told 'em off again today in Commons.

"The occasion was a request by Sir William Dawson for a more musical warning to replace any mid air raid, about which he said numerous women had complained because 'they are more depressing than bombs.'"

"The women are showing more courage than the men," the American viscountess responded, "and I beg Sir William not to listen to a few nervous letters from a few nervous women."

The Ministry of Home Security has held that the wailing raid sirens are the best type warning device.

Army and Navy Cooking Up the Biggest Thanksgiving Dinner Since World War

Washington, Nov. 19.—(P)—The army and navy are cooking up the biggest Thanksgiving dinner since the mammoth meals they served in the years just after the World War.

"The reason? They're feeding more men than at any time in two decades."

Something like 64,500 turkeys, 111 tons of turkey sauce and 73 tons of stuffing will go into Thursday's feast for 500,000 soldiers and sailors.

After feeding up the gobbles, the army and navy are planning a big Thanksgiving dinner for the men in the main course told less than half of the story.

With Prospects of Election-Year Congress Winding Up Nearly Eleven Months Of Activity Featured by Peacetime Spending Record of $25,572,819,337, Tally Sheets are Kept on Man-to-Man Poll of Members on Floor

NEW MEMBER MAY BE ABLE TO DECIDE ISSUE

BULLETIN
Washington, Nov. 19.—(P)—The Senate elected Senator King (D-Utah) today as its president pro tempore during the life of the present congress. He succeeded the late Senator Key Pittman of Nevada.

Washington, Nov. 19.—(P)—The house came up to a decision on adjournment today with prospects of such a close vote that party leaders on both sides indicated that members arriving by late afternoon plane and train might decide the issue.

Democrats, favoring adjournment, kept a tally sheet on a man-to-man poll of the members already on the floor.

Representative Taylor (D-Colo.) told newsmen that Representative Martin of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, had requested postponement of the swearing of Representative-elect Burney (D-Colo.).

Burney's vote, if allowed, conceivably could swing the result and the Republican leaders were taking no chances in their efforts to vote down adjournment.

Washington, Nov. 19.—(P)—An election-year congress which faced a brief "do-little" session last January is winding up nearly 11 months of unexpected activity with a peacetime spending record of $25,572,819,337 and with a vast defense program approved and in operation.

About two-thirds of the money voted $16,920,627,477—is in actual appropriations which can be spent before next July 1, according to the figures of Chairman Taylor (D-Colo.) of the house appropriations committee. The record (Turn to Page Nine)

Rial has been chairman approximately a year, stepping to this spot from the Department of Justice as a deputy attorney general with a long political background including a term as a Republican state senator.

His challenge came in retort to the statement of David L. Lawrence, former Democratic state chairman and now one of the party's two national committee members from Pennsylvania. BURNED KINZUA BUILDINGS WILL NOT BE REBUILT

Kinzua, Nov. 18.—Fire which destroyed the main business section of this town early Saturday morning left a desolate spot which will not be rebuilt, at least for the present, it was revealed today.

The fact that most of the buildings burned were being rented and the possibility that the proposed Kinzua dam might be built in the next few years does not tend to enthusiasm for replacing the burned structures, it was stated.

Soon after his store was leveled, Lynn W. Shipman contacted M. N. Sherman, of Allegheny, N. Y., and rented the pool-room building opposite the Episcopal church, owned by the New York state man. Mr. Shipman conducted business there Saturday with the stock he could obtain within a short time. He plans to make this his permanent place of business.

The postmistress, Miss Lillian Shine, moved the furnishings from the post office into the Guild rooms when it became apparent that the office could not be saved. The mail and all material in the office was placed in small bags, so the local mail service was not interrupted. Permanent quarters have not been secured.

Mr. and Mrs. William Farrell plan to reopen their place of business in a new location in the near future, it is reported. But Mrs. G. W. Moorehouse, who has conducted a hardware business here since the death of her husband a number of years ago, does not intend to reopen her store.

TEMPLE DOCTOR SPEAKS BEFORE MEDICAL GROUP

As guest speaker for the November meeting of the Warren County Medical Society, held Monday afternoon at the Conewago Club, Dr. John Lansbury, associate professor of medicine at Temple University, gave a very instructive talk on the present management of arthritis.

He spoke with special reference on one type, that which affects the joints as a part of a systematic trouble, and produces wasting of muscles and deformity. At least 40 types of arthritis have been described but this particular form, known as atrophic arthritis, is the most crippling, according to the speaker, and no cause has yet been discovered.

Dr. Lansbury stated that in its treatment every effort must be made to restore the general health by removing foci of infection if these are present. If fever occurs, rest in bed is indicated, but this must be associated with regular daily exercise of the involved joints.

A new method of medication was described, which so far has improved about 70 per cent of the patients treated. He described it as a preparation of gold which is injected into the veins; the drug having been first used for tuberculosis. He stressed the fact that the treatment must be continued for a long time and with great caution. Importance of selecting cases with care was also stressed, the speaker explaining that some individuals are very sensitive to the drug and develop serious symptoms after its use.

The talk was most helpful, since the speaker pointed out the need of making careful diagnosis in all joint disease cases.

Forty members attended the meeting and the dinner which followed. During the business session, resolutions were adopted in memory of Dr. M. T. Smith, former president of the society.

CHIMNEY FIRE
Youngville Fire Company was called out Monday evening to a chimney fire at the Nastale home on North Main street near the brick yards. The company made short work of the fire and was soon back. With the coming of cold weather, Youngville usually has a number of chimney fires and chimneys should be watched at this period.

B. P. W. CLUB HAS ENJOYABLE TIME IS PLANNED AT AT YOUNGVILLE

Youngville, Nov. 19.—A very interesting meeting of the Youngville Business and Professional Club was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Nellie Anderson, with Mrs. Orrie Maass, Mrs. Marian Robertson and Miss Edna Thompson, assisting hostesses.

At the business session, plans were made for the annual Christmas party to be held next month in a similar manner to the party last year. Christmas cheer will be brought to a group of children at the opening part of the party to be followed by exchange of gifts by the members and various forms of entertainment. The luncheon will be a tureen. Announcement was made that a large group would attend the Jamestown B. P. W. meeting tonight.

Plans were made for a party on the evening of Dec. 12th. It was also decided to make a gift of books or money amounting to $5.00 to the library association.

This week's program consisted of a talk from Warren County Tuberculosis Nurse, Mrs. Rose Sigworth, followed by moving pictures showing the cause, development and the cure of tuberculosis.

A delicious tray luncheon was served by the committee.

"A Little Bit of Heaven" Patterned along the same lines as "The Under-Pup," a pattern which proved a hit and established Gloria Jean as a star, Universal's "A Little Bit of Heaven" comes Wednesday and Thursday to the Library Theatre.

Producer Joe Pasternak, who introduced Gloria in the previous film, also is producer of "A Little Bit of Heaven" in which the 12-year-old star has a role similar to her "Under-Pup" title part.

Six other players from the casts of the earlier success are present in the coming feature, including C. Aubrey Smith, as Gloria's "Grandpa"; Nan Grey, as her older sister; Butch and Buddy, Billy Gilbert and Frank Jenks.

What Makes Americans Laugh?

JOE E. BROWN: "It's always been my theory that comic acrobatics and facial expressions make them laugh. I can tell some very funny gag, something right out of Joe Miller's joke book, give it a laugh or a mug and it will be a hit. Without the acrobatics it would be just another Joe Miller. Don't ask me why."

Glossary of Army Terms, Slang and Abbreviations That Becloud Layman

BY ALLAN CRIST
Harrisburg, Oct. 19.—(P.)—All cannon aren't guns, retreat doesn't necessarily indicate a dash to the rear, and all soldiers aren't dough-boys.

So it's no wonder army lingo sends civilians into mental tailspins.

Trying to unravel some of the more common misconceptions of military language, a few military men put their minds together and came up with this glossary of army terms, slang and abbreviations that often becloud the layman:

Automatic pistol—For just "automatic."

Automatic rifle—A type of hand fire-arms that feeds bullets into its chamber, discharges them, and ejects the empty cartridges with each squeeze of the trigger; definitely not a "revolver," which contains cartridges in a revolving cylinder.

Automatic rifle—A compromise between an ordinary rifle and a machine gun; a big clip of cartridges is fed automatically into the chamber; loading, firing and ejecting are automatic.

Caisson—Wheeled cart for carrying shells with field artillery pieces; seldom seen, now that most of the field artillery has been motorized.

Who Killed Aunt Maggie?

By MEDORA FIELD

YESTERDAY: Sally and Bill intended to give a nice week-end party in their lovely country home not far from Atlanta, to celebrate the engagement of Bob and Claire. Aunt Maggie has come uninvited to the party, and has been murdered. Now, late at night, the men are taking turns standing guard, while Sally wrestles in her own mind with the terrible suspicion that either Eve or Alice, two of her guests, may be guilty.

Chapter 12 Dread Suspicion

BUT I must see about that clue. And as usual my first impulse was to confide in Bill, thus placing the responsibility for action on his more capable shoulders. Remembering the many times his rest had already been broken in one night, and that he must get up again in less than two hours, I managed to restrain myself.

Besides, it was all so wild. How could I expect him to take me seriously? He would probably tell me to go back to sleep and that everything would look a lot different in the morning.

And, after all, as Alice had reasoned before me, there would be someone in the library. I could call to him by the time I reached the stairway. While I did not believe for a moment that Alice had seen a ghost, I do not mean to say that I was not frightened at the thought of venturing out into that dark upstairs hall.

But I was not afraid in the same way that I had been when alone in the house that afternoon, with the servants and Aunt Maggie mysteriously missing and with assorted sound effects to provide atmosphere.

It was still raining; but there was a sort of rhythm about it now, for the wind had subsided temporarily. And although actual violence had taken place since the afternoon, I now knew the house to be full of people who at one outcry would rush to my assistance. That Aunt Maggie had been able to make no outcry did not occur to me until I was actually at the head of the stairway, in the exact spot where Alice had faintly at what she claimed to be the sight of a ghost.

But, although my heart swelled even bigger in my throat, it was easier by then to go on than turn back. For, if my candle went out, there was the lamp in the hall below. So I, as I held onto the stair rail I was all right. But it might have been simpler if I had just turned loose and let myself fall downstairs, for, excited and hurried as I was, the heavy folds of my long velvet house gown tripped me at every step and more than once I came near losing one of my satin mules. I had lost the last one when I had brought along.

I groped for it uncertainly, then decided to give it up as a bad bargain. As I straightened up and grasped the stair rail again, I stood petrified in my tracks.

I had heard the front door open and close softly.

Dark Journey
MY FIRST impulse, when arrested by that unexpected opening and closing of the front door, was to fly back upstairs. But on halfway ground one course appeared almost as uninviting as the other. Against the forbidding blackness of the upper hall, the lamplight below, sickly though it was, seemed to offer some slight margin of safety.

At least one might hope to see what dangers were to be met. And aside from my conviction with regard to the clue, a conviction strong enough to drive me from the comfort and safety of my bed, there was the undeniable pull of feminine curiosity as to what evil business might be afoot downstairs.

So, drawing a long breath, and moving with the utmost caution, I made my way to the lower hall, finally reaching the library door. As I had expected, Kirk was nowhere to be seen. Whether he had gone outside, or had admitted someone into the house, I could not guess.

At any rate, the library was empty, with that dreadful emptiness of a room that holds its secrets. It was as though every inanimate object was "aching me" a little because it knew more than I did about what was going on in this strange sequence of events and waiting to see what my next reaction would be.

I did not like to turn my back on that room, with the glow of the firelight reflected on the silver candlesticks so that they gleamed like eyes in the gloom. But I had come downstairs on a mission which must be carried out, so I backed away from the door toward the deeper darkness of the drawing room.

Aunt Maggie, I knew, lay on a sofa at the far end, or in what would have been the back parlor before the two rooms were converted into one.

I could walk along the hall to the back-parlor door and have the light of the hall lamp to guide me, but that would also take me in the direction of the breakfast room, through which I had passed from the kitchen when I found

Next Season May Be Your Last Chance To See a Real Old-Fashioned Circus

BY GLADWIN HILL
Miami, Fla., Nov. 19.—(P.)—Next year may be your last chance to see a real old-fashioned circus, unlike the one where you carried water to the elephants when you were a kid.

Norman Bel Geddes, the stream-line designer who created the New York World's Fair Highway Futurama, joined the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey circus today to start a two-year modernization project intended to produce, for the season of 1942 a "big show" as different from the traditional circus as modern cars are from the Model-T.

The designer said he was trying to get transparent plastic bars strong enough to pen in wild animals and yet be invisible to spectators, but that he might have to compromise on metal bars with special chromium plate to make them inconspicuous.

The elephants, clowns and acrobats will still be there, he guaranteed, but most of the exterior paraphernalia will be different—including, instead of the conventional "big top," a canvas auditorium without poles, suspended from huge portable steel towers 160 feet high.

Changes next year, Geddes and Circus President John Ringling North said, would be confined to the side show tent and the menagerie, where the customary oval of cage wagons will be eliminated and the animals displayed in an integrated exhibition in surroundings resembling their natural habitats.

Calibre—The size of a gun, as expressed by the measurement of the inside diameter of the barrel.

Canteen—Container in which the soldier carries his own drinking water on the march; also, the store where soft drinks, beer, polish, candy, etc., are sold to the troops.

C. O.—Commanding officer of any unit, camp or garrison, unless he happens to be a general; then he's C. G., or commanding general.

Coast artillery—Branch of the army charged with coastal defense; mans anti-aircraft guns, searchlights, sound detectors, and harbor defenses; definitely not "the coast guard artillery," as it sometimes is called; has nothing to do with the Coast Guard, sea-going agency of the U. S. treasury.

Colors—Term applied to the national emblem carried by dismounted troops.

Dog Food—Emergency rations, to be eaten "only after you've starved to death," cynics insist.

Dog robber—Officer's personal servant, or orderly.

Doughboy—Slang term for an infantryman—and no one else.

Dud—Shell or bomb that has failed to explode.

Field artillery—Artillery pieces mounted on wheels, drawn by horse, trucks or tractors and capable of being hauled on roads or across country.

Garand—Unofficial name of the "M-1" rifle now replacing the Springfield; named for its inventor; the gas that propels the bullet also works the loading, firing and ejecting mechanism every time the rifleman squeezes the trigger.

G. I.—Government issue anything from underwear to garbage cans.

Guidon—Small pennant identifying the company, troop or battery.

Gun—Generally speaking, a long-barreled, specifically, a long-barreled artillery piece.

Howitzer—An artillery piece with a stubby barrel that fires shells at a high angle; especially useful for getting at targets when hills or other obstacles are in the line of fire.

Lane-troops—Units which actually engage in combat as distinguished from supply, medical and other units.

Machine gun—Various types of guns firing small-arm cartridges automatically; so-called "light" and "heavy" air-cooled and water-cooled guns use regular 30-caliber bullets; anti-tank guns, 50-caliber bullets.

Mechanized—A force equipped with armored, fighting vehicles, not just with trucks.

Mess—Without intending and reflection on the quality of army food, it's the official term applied to any meal.

Mortar—A stubby gun with a short barrel and a wide mouth, that lobbs shells or grenades at a high angle for comparatively short distances.

Motorized—A force equipped with motor vehicles that are not designed for actual combat, but for transportation of men and supplies.

M. P. Military police; members of a special force charged with keeping order, collecting stragglers, directing traffic, etc.

O. D.—Olive drab, the color of the cold-weather uniform; also, officer of the day, the officer temporarily responsible for the peace and quiet of a camp or garrison.

Old Man—The soldier's way of referring to his commanding officer (but never to his face), whether the C. O. is 30 or 60.

Portee—Carried on vehicles; for instance, "portee cavalry" carries its horses on trucks or trailers instead of gets close to the scene of action.

Prime mover—A heavy truck, used mostly for towing artillery.

Q. M. Quartermaster; the supply corps.

Reconnaissance—Fancy word the army picked up from the French, to cover the general subject of old-fashioned scouting.

Retreat Ceremony attendant to lowering of the national emblem at sundown; armies don't "retreat" nowadays; they "retire" or withdraw.

Revolver—A pistol carrying cartridges in a cylinder that revolves so that bullets are brought in line with the barrel, one at a time; it definitely is not an "automatic," which the army prefers to the revolver.

Rifle—Generally speaking, any gun with a barrel grooved so as to give the projectile a twist to keep it from tumbling end-over-end; more specifically, a long-barreled firearm from the shoulder, or a long-barreled artillery piece as distinguished from a howitzer or a mortar.

Squad car—A box-like, open-top, armored automobile; equipped with machine guns; used for scouting primarily, and not for a stand-up fight.

Shrapnel—A type of shell set to explode at a designated range, scattering steel balls over a wide area; seldom used nowadays; missile often referred to as "shrapnel" usually are simply shell fragments.

Springfield—Unofficial name for the rifle that had been the army's standard weapon until the Garand came along; named for the Massachusetts arsenal where many different models have been made since the nation's youth; the present Springfield is the model of 1903.

Standard—Term applied to the

TWO THANKSGIVINGS

The fact that Pennsylvania communities will have a "partial holiday" Thursday of this week in observance of President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving, and a "full holiday" Thursday of next week because Governor James has proclaimed it as such, may be hard on the turkey, but certainly is very easy on some government, bank and public employes.

President Roosevelt proclaimed November 21 as America's Thanksgiving Day, while Governor James has issued a proclamation that Pennsylvania will mark Thanksgiving on November 28.

This wholesale manufacture of holidays is giving the banks and other employes two holidays and providing the inspiration for no end of ribbing throughout the state. As one bank employee put it, "When the president and the governor disagree, we get a break."

Stores and business houses in Warren will close November 28th, although these same establishments may be confronted with a banking problem on November 21st.

Another problem facing the merchants is the fact that the post office may observe holidays hours Thursday of this week. No official word has been received. Whatever ruling may be adopted for this Thursday may have some bearing on the hours to be observed next week.

Local churches will go along with the James holiday and celebrate November 28th with a union service.

Warren schools will dismiss Thursday and Friday, November 28 and 29, reassembling Monday, December 2.

All banks will be closed on both November 21 and 28 because they each become a legal holiday. The Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank, however, will open November 28, Pennsylvania's Thanksgiving.

Locally the two Thanksgivings will be observed in many families, with grandmother on one side of the house cooking the turkey this Thursday and the other grandmother getting a chance to show her culinary prowess next week.

DEATH ON THE HIGHWAY

Another highway fatality has been recorded in Warren county, due mostly to a combination of circumstances and inclement weather that created situations that gave neither the victims nor the operators of the death cars little chance to avoid the tragedies.

It was the second accident under very similar circumstances to occur in the county within three weeks. In each instance the victim was crossing a busy pavement when weather conditions were such as to make it extremely hazardous to be on the highway. Such a toll should prove a lesson to every person who walks on the highways.

A thousand more lives were snuffed out by automobiles during the first half of this year than in the same period of 1939.

Death, following the human lead, has also motorized his battalions. He is gradually forcing back the safety troops which were so long gradually reducing the toll of traffic.

The National Safety Council in a recent report showed 14,740 people were mown down this year up to June 30th, as compared with 13,700 in the first half of last year.

The eight per cent increase almost exactly coincides with the seven per cent increase in auto mileage. But the Safety Council believes that the war also has had its effect in making people reckless and careless. The traffic toll began to rise almost exactly when the war started last September, and reached its peak in June, when France surrendered.

This is a war without end, without armistice. The fight against death's motorized divisions must not slacken and every person, whether pedestrian or motorist, must join the crusade to help reduce the terrible toll.

Citizens should find it easy to cooperate with the street department when removing snow from sidewalks by leaving it piled on the sidewalk instead of shoveling it into the gutter.

If any Warren county bears escape the army of hunters that are reported in the woods this week, they're shrewder than we had given them credit for being.

Skis were in evidence in Warren Saturday and Sunday, but by yesterday they had been stored away to await another snow storm.

PROPOSED PLANS CLOSELY RESEMBLE TOWNSEND SET-UP

Washington, Nov. 19.—High on the list of projects the New Deal plans to present to Congress this winter is a change in the Social Security Act which would greatly broaden the old-age pension system.

What is likely to come out of it is a pension plan remarkably like the modernized version of the Townsend Plan. Studies of ways to extend and amplify the old-age assistance section of the Social Security Act are now being made under supervision of Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, in line with President Roosevelt's campaign pledge that a better pension system would be introduced.

These studies have not yet been finished, but it is possible to get a fairly good line on the program. A good guess is that it will call for the elimination of the means test by which local boards are empowered to decide whether or not an assistance eligible is actually in need—the extension of pensions to all retired citizens past 65, and government payments starting from a minimum of, probably, $25 a month, to which the individual states could add further sums if they chose.

This means, of course, that the present "actuarial basis" would go out the window. It would no longer be necessary to estimate what percentage of persons would be in need, since pensions would go to all. Reliance on payroll taxes as a means of footing the bill would probably be abandoned too. The annual cost of a pension system such as has just been outlined is figured to be around $2,800,000,000 a year. Best suggestion so far is that some form of gross income tax would have to be levied to support it.

What comes out of all of this is something tolerably close to the Townsend Plan.

There is now pending in the Senate a bill introduced by Senator Downey of California, generally recognized as the chief spokesman for the Townsend idea in the upper house. Downey's bill, which bears Townsend's endorsement, would levy a 2 per cent gross income tax and pay pensions to all retired citizens past 60. Downey figures this would mean pensions of $40 a month at the start. The bill carries a $200 maximum, which admittedly would be reached about half a mile this side of Utopia.

By all of this there hangs a tale. Dr. Townsend came out for William in the last campaign. Downey, on the other hand, stumped for Roosevelt. Late in August, Downey had a long conference with Roosevelt in the White House. The President remarked that he was "deeply disappointed" with the old age pension phases of the Social Security Law and was convinced something much better was needed. He added he would recommend to the next Congress an extensive revision of the law, looking toward higher pensions and more pensioners.

Downey replied he himself had a bill in the Senate—the above-mentioned Townsend bill—but that a lot of senators were afraid of it on the ground it might get vetoed if passed. FDR said that, on the contrary, he would cooperate for the passage of the best possible pension legislation. It was about 10 days after that the President made his address before the convention of the Teamsters' union in which he called for bigger and better pensions, with payments "given in a manner which will respect the dignity of the life of service which our aged citizens have given to the nation."

STORIES IN STAMPS

Libya's Camel Corps Under Aerial Command

LIBYA's airmail stamp above, picturing a soldier of the camel corps and an airplane, reveals an unusual fact about Italy's African army—the camel corps is directed by air. Vast distances of the desert make this combination of land and air forces necessary. Effectiveness of the system has already been tested in Italy's African campaign. Libya is the base of operations in the effort to destroy British power in the Mediterranean.

Italy's claims upon this slice of northern Africa date from the Roman empire and the conquest of Carthage. After Rome fell, the Mohammedans swept westward and it was not until 1912, after the Turko-Italian war, that Rome's power was again extended to the area. Egypt ceded additional territory in 1926 enlarging Libya to 684,784 square miles, including some 350,000 inhabitants.

The late Marshal Italo Balbo was governor of Libya from 1933 until his death last summer. Philatelists remember Balbo as commander of the mass trans-Atlantic flight of 24 planes from Rome to Chicago. Italy marked Balbo's triumph with a series of three stamps.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—It's about time for the great biennial passing of the buck from one Congress to another. With ending of the 76th Congress, five highly controversial measures (four of them already passed by the House of Representatives) go down to what may be dusty death on the tables of Senate committees or on the calendar.

As this is being written, the exact date of the demise of Congress is not definite and it is barely possible that the Republican contingent, headed by Senator Vandenberg (Mich.) in the upper house and Minority Leader Joe Martin, in the lower, will have its way and keep Congress on until the legislative year ends January 3. In that event, one or two of the measures which have been stamped by the House as a good thing for the nation might get to the floor of the Senate, but the best guessers don't guess so.

Slated For Ash-Can
HERE are the bills which it seems are slated for the 76th Congress ash-can:
(1) The Logan-Walter bill, a complicated measure which would put a check rein on government administrative agencies and make it possible for persons and companies to appeal to the courts when they feel the agencies have issued orders violating their individual rights. The House passed it by a big majority, but the Senate has kept it muffled in committee swaddling clothes.
(2) The anti-lynching bill. Passed by the House by an almost 2-to-1 vote last January, this one went to the Senate amid dark hints of a filibuster from southern Senate leaders, if any effort should be made to bring it to the floor. The bill was approved by the Senate judiciary in April (10-3) and until about June, it seemed it might some day come to a vote. Then came national defense and the anti-lynching bill has been hanging on the calendar ever since, with some senator only now and then giving it as much as a sidelong glance.
(3) The Wagner act amendments, which would provide a new three-man national labor relations board and a heavy overhauling of the original Wagner labor act. This passed the House in June by exactly 2-to-1 but the Senate hasn't given it a decent nod.

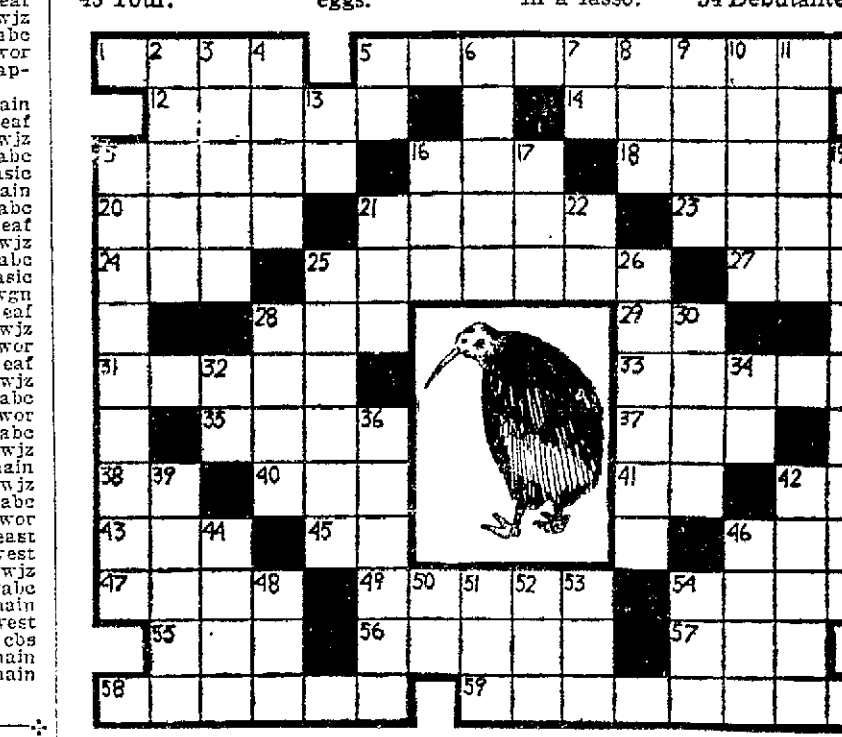

(4) The Ramspeck bill, which would bring about 200,000 more government employes under civil service. The Senate did act on this one, but it killed one important House provision and added one of its own and a stormy House ordered its members in joint conference not to send the bill back to the House with those changes. Rep. Robert Ramspeck (D-Ga.) has hopes of salvaging his bill this session, but many observers think it also will go by the board.

(5) Also pending in the Senate is the important King resolution which would relax our neutrality laws and make some changes in the Johnson act, which forbids loans to countries which haven't paid their World war debts. This is the measure which would open the door to greater material aid to Britain.

These Aren't All
THESE aren't all the pending measures which are likely to be passed on to the 77th Congress, but they are the important ones. If they die on the Senate calendar or in committee, they will have to be re-introduced at the next session and acted on again by BOTH houses before they can become laws. With the gains of the majority party in the House at the recent election, it is considered certain the first four measures will sail through again in due time and again it will be up to the Senate to act or put off until tomorrow whatever it considers too hot to handle today.

MAKE SHOWER CURTAIN RESISTANT TO MILDEW

In less than an hour a homemaker can give an ordinary shower curtain a treatment that will make it mildew-resistant, states Mrs. Thelma Prendergast, home economics extension representative, Warren County.

In homes where shower curtains are likely to mildew quickly, a simple treatment can be a real money-saver. This treatment is suggested by Miss Margaret Furry of the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The treatment requires no special equipment. Only a good laundry soap and crystals of cadmium chloride, available at drug stores, are needed. This is the method Miss Furry recommends: Have the cloth thoroughly clean. Heat it in a solution of 1 gallon of water, about one and a half gallons will cover an average-sized shower curtain. Heat 20 minutes, remove the cloth, and squeeze out excess soap.

Put the wet cloth into a second solution of cadmium chloride crystals. 3 ounces to a gallon of water. About one and a half gallons is required. Heat for about 30 minutes, wring out, and dry without rinsing. Hang to dry on a twine line. A metal line may stain the fabric.

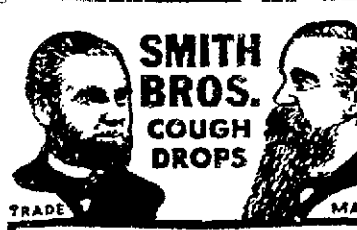

This treatment does not affect the color of the curtain and it lasts until the next laundering.

Farm Calendar

Pastures Need Rest—Late, close grazing of the pasture in the fall means late, short pasture in the spring. Agronomists of the Pennsylvania State College recommend giving the pasture a rest in the fall so that it can store up energy for a quick start in the spring and the production of more and better feed during the summer.

Late Pruning is Best—Pruning of fruit trees is done more safely after danger of winter injury is past, say fruit specialists of the Pennsylvania State College, if severe injury has occurred, the damaged parts then can be removed and further cutting omitted. The object of pruning is to help the tree and not just to cut out wood.

Provide Feeding Space—Pullets need adequate equipment to provide plenty of feeding space. Hoppers are needed for mash feeding, and some poultrymen also feed grain in hoppers. Poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State College say that enough space should be provided so that the pullets can eat the feed they need for production of eggs.

Prevent House Fires—Defective flues and chimneys cause most of the house fires at this time of year. Agricultural engineers of the Pennsylvania State College recommend checking the condition of the chimneys for defects, and repair or rebuilding where needed.

Evergreens Need Water—Before the ground freezes, the soil around evergreens should be well supplied with moisture throughout the year, explain ornamental horticulturists at the Pennsylvania State College.

Mulch Strawberries—Mulch the strawberry plants to protect them from winter damage, fruit specialists at Penn State recommend.

APOSTOLI AND ZALE FIGHT IN SEATTLE

Seattle, Nov. 19.—(P.)—A former champion of one middleweight boxing clan fights the current champion of the other in a 10-round non-title affair tonight when Freddie Apostoli of San Francisco and Tony Zale of Gary, Ind., trade wallop.

Apostoli once held the New York-California version of the title, while Zale won the National Boxing Association's crown last summer by a knockout over Al Hostak here in 13 rounds. Apostoli yielded his two-state toga to Cefarino Garcia, who lost it to Ken Overlin.

Zale has had only one fight since winning his crown—a non-title decision dropped to young Billy Soose, Farrell, Pa. Zale says he was stale in that one and wants to lay his title on the line in a return match, but Zale's co-manager, Art Winch, says the Soose camp wants too much money.

TOO SHORT BLANKETS
NO COMFORT TO SLEEPER

The sudden approach of cold weather in Pennsylvania has sent the homemaker scurrying for her supply of warm bed coverings. If necessary to have additional ones, she may like to buy blankets.

Blankets are warm and durable without too much weight, Mrs. Thelma Prendergast, home economics extension representative, Warren county, points out. They also may be cleaned more easily than heavy comforters with cotton padding.

The kind of fiber, the nap, the closeness of weave, and size all contribute to the warmth and durability of blankets.

A household blanket may be made entirely of wool or cotton or a mixture of these two fibers, she says. In selecting blankets for warmth it is wise to choose those with the highest percentage of good quality wool within the price range you can afford. The wool content may vary from 5 to 98 per cent. The label on the blanket should indicate the percentage of wool in the article.

Nap, whether cotton or wool, should be distributed evenly and not come out when the blanket is washed or rubbed. The make-up of the wool fiber keeps the nap of wool blanket elastic and fluffy even after laundering. Cotton nap often becomes packed and the warmth of the blanket is reduced.

Close even weaving of long strong yarns is highly desired in quality blankets for warmth and durability.

A blanket that is too short does not keep feet and shoulders warm so it is important to select one of the right size. Right size in a blanket means one that is long enough to tuck in at the foot of the bed, come well over a person's shoulders, and be wide enough to hang over the sides of the mattress.

Blankets today come in a variety of colors so that it is easy for the homemaker to work out pleasing color schemes in her rooms.

DRINK CHEMICAL SOUP

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19.—(P.)—Residents of western Pennsylvania, especially in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, are drinking what might be termed "chemical soup," says Mayor Cornelius D. Scully regarding highly-treated drinking water from the Allegheny river, heavy with industrial wastes. He has urged the building of a system of reservoirs in northwestern Pennsylvania to bring 650,000,000 gallons of fresh water daily to the Pittsburgh district by acqueduct. The system would cost an estimated $100,000,000 and would be built over a period of 30 years. City council will consider the proposal next Wednesday.

FIRST METHODIST MEN ENJOY FINE MOTION PICTURE

The Men's Bible Class of the First Methodist church held their regular monthly meeting last evening in the Scout room of the church with about 40 men present. The regular business session occupied the early part of the evening, with President Babcock presiding.

The birthday calendar project undertaken by the class is progressing satisfactorily. A partial report from the various members showed approximately 400 names have already been secured for the calendar. It was urged by president Babcock that a final report be made by Sunday.

The Christmas White Gifts offering will go forward under the direction of a committee to be appointed.

Following the business session, Fred Schuler presented a three-reel motion picture of a several hundred-mile trip through the wilds of Canada along the St. Lawrence River. This picture was in technicolor and was highly appreciated by the members of the class.

After the showing of the motion picture a committee served ice cream, cake and coffee.

America's Card authority Today organized bridge is not merely a pastime. Thousands of dollars are raised annually for charity and some really fine work is done by bridge organizations.

For instance, consider the activities of Mrs. Elizabeth Banfield, of New York. Three years ago I undertook to start an activity in different cities to teach the blind the game of bridge, and Mrs. Banfield took charge of the teaching in New York. She opened her season this year with eight tables of blind players.

One member of her class is deaf, dumb and blind, and with the aid of someone who understands the deaf and dumb language by hand pressure, she is going to teach that young man how to play bridge. Mrs. Banfield does this work without one cent of remuneration, and I am happy to say that this activity is going on in several other cities now.

Mrs. Banfield, who is a fine player as well as a very capable teacher, is one of the few women whose name is engraved on the national contract team-of-four trophy. Today's hand is one that I well remember. It was playing in one of the national tournaments. Mrs. Banfield (South) won the opening lead with dummy's ace of hearts, cashed the ace of clubs and ace of spades, then led the ten of clubs and overtook in dummy with the king. She ruffed the small spade, played a small diamond to dummy's ace, ruffed the queen of spades, then cashed the king and queen of diamonds.

When West showed out, she knew that her only chance was to find that East had held only one heart. She led the fourth diamond, discarding a heart from dummy. East had to return either a diamond or a spade, allowing Mrs. Banfield to ruff in one hand and discard from the other.

STRIKE ENDS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19.—(P.)—Approximately 1,400 striking construction workers at Terrace Village, government-financed housing project, were ordered back to work today by President George Walters of the AFL Pittsburgh Building Trades Council. A jurisdictional dispute between the AFL common laborers union and the union plumbers over which should lay water pipes caused the walk-out. Building trades council officers held the work was properly within the jurisdiction of union plumbers.

ENOUGH?

The United States has a known unlimited supply of bituminous coal sufficient to meet normal demands for the fuel for the next 2000 years.

DOLLY VARDEN TROUT

The Dolly Varden trout gets its name from the pattern of its coat. It supposedly resembles the calico dress worn by Dolly Varden, a character in Charles Dickens' "Barnaby Rudge."

SELF-DIAGNOSIS

BY PAUL BRAUNSCHWEIGER
of The Mullen Drug Co.

It is a grave error to diagnose one's own symptoms and attempt one's own cure. Serious results often occur.

To take any of the numerous drugs offered for constipation or a tonic because it helped a friend is to invite possible disaster.

Do not attempt self-medication even for a cold. Get the doctor's word for any systems differ as completely as fingerprints. Only a trained physician is qualified to determine the right treatment.

Important also is the drugist who compounds the prescription written by the doctor. Select a competent, trustworthy one.

This is the first of a series of health messages appearing in this paper each Tuesday. Copyright
